Doherty Pledges Legion Platform, Sails for Europe

By JAMES F. MCENANEY

Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Pledged to uphold the constitutional guarantees of personal freedom and private property rights, Daniel J. Doherty, New England's first national commander of the American Legion, sailed for Europe at midnight after the greatest, most spectacular convention in Legion history.

With him was his legal wife, who stood by the sticky, mental war burn attorney through the grueling hours of this year's hectic session. Doherty is going to France, with 100 war buddies who fought in the trenches over there to visit the battlefields and graves of the American soldiers who died for an arguable cause.

WILDLY CHERISHED

Amid a thronging scene of wild cheering Legion men, a half-million strong, Doherty was acclaimed national commander on the first ballot in New York's historic Metropolitan Opera House. While parties of Russia roared, he sailed through the town of boxes in the east opera house, Raymond Kelly of Detroit, Doherty's host, while rival for the highest office the Legion ever bestowed, took to move that the Massachusetts candidate be named by a unanimous vote.

"It is the greatest moment of my life," said Doherty, obviously affected by the fervent display given him by his host of war-time buddies.

PLEDGE OF FAITH

Then, turning to the congratulatory messengers of personal friends who flanked the stage, he stood by the Legion reaffirmed its faith in American democracy, its stance toward measures, declaring unending opposition to any force which would destroy representative government of the people. "We reaffirm our opposition to Communism, Fascism, Nazism, and all other forces which threaten the rights that seek to destroy the free institutions of our Constitutional government," the Legion challenged.

"We condemn and will oppose all alien organizations which promote loyalty to some other government or system."

"We request that Congress investigate and make public its findings on organizations in the United States which are militantly serving Germany, Italy, Russia, Spain or any other alien power or system."

"We urge national legislation that will punish American citizens who advocate the overthrow of our government by force, fraud or violence, and to deport all aliens who advocate such subversive policies."

America's powerful organization of war veterans will make no trade on the national Treasury under his administration, Doherty promised as he stood on the deck of the liner Washington, his wife at his side.

Promotion of Americanism, continued independence in national labor disputes, and the intensive cultivation of a spirit of patriotic cooperation in bringing property back to these shores will be his objectives.

"The policies of the Legion, of course, will be carried out by the national executive committee, according to the mandates of the constitution," the newly-elected commander asserted.

"First of all, we shall seek the promotion of Americanism."

"Secondly will come the placing of wives of veterans on the same level as wives of veterans in previous wars, at receiving pensions. There will be, however, no trade on the national Treasury for further pensions."

Adequate military defense will be one of the main Legion objectives throughout the coming year.

On a resounding affirmative vote, the Legion declared for:

"An increase of 15,000 men and 500 officers in the regular army, to bring it up to 180,000 men and 15,000 officers."

"A National Guard of 130,000 men, a reserve corps of 130,000 officers available for active duty."

THREE DOHERTYS WEAR FAMILY SMILE

All wearing that happy smile that a Doherty family attribute since the American Legion convention election, here are Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, the Legion's new National Commander, and his wife and mother. for five years until 2336 places have been obtained, a navy "second to none" marine corps of officers and men equal to one-fifth the strength of the navy and adequate naval and marine reserves, at least twice the size of the personnel of the regular forces."

The Federal recognition of the importance of the vast Legion parley came in the form of a personal message from President Roosevelt, sending "heartiest greetings" and urging that the Legion is in a position to contribute materially to the success of the movement, now well under way, to absorb the unemployed into commerce and industry.

The Legion went on record, endorsing "cooperation with industrial, labor and civic organizations in the re-employment of men and women."

Sailing simultaneously, but on another boat, with the new commander was his aggressive campaign manager, William Doyle of Malden, a former state commander high in the national convalescence, who is credited with securing the national election for Doherty.

Doherty sailed for Bermuda for a rest after the marathon of the national convention, while Doherty, with his wife, will make the 20th annual pilgrimage to the French battlefields with 674 other Legionnaires on board the S. S. Washington.

'Flaming' Casanova Notes Sifted for Murder Clues

Letters Bore "Love" for Typist as Frank Wood Lowell Girl

divorce from his first wife was allegedly obtained by the woman now accused of the murder.

Miss Donohue last letter, written Monday afternoon, said she would make a point to let her even while penning his passionate pledges to Miss O'Keefe.

The letter, made public by police last night, said:

"Dearest Darling, I worship you. The hours seem so long and I can't wait until we are together. I am so tired. I am going home tonight and will write you another letter then."

From Miss O'Keefe, however, police learned that Frank, instead of going home, met her accidentally on a Brooklyn street corner, took her to dinner and demanded the return of his 28 love letters.

At O'Keefe's trial, police charged that she had been watching the Legion parade until midnight.

Police said Frank was slain before 10 p. m. Miss O'Keefe asserted she returned home to find a crowd of curious people gathered around the murder scene.

District Attorney George H. King County today declared that police were looking for a woman who was seen running during the night, a period of time that the girl and at about the time Frank was slain.

Another Written Just Before $300 Loan

Another, which police believe was written just before Miss O'Keefe loaned Frank $300 to finance his wife's divorce, read:

"My dear beloved Gertrude, a day of emptiness and loneliness brightened only by the knowledge that you are with me, parents. I went to Rosetta to eat. And I began thinking that frogs' legs might appease my lack of appetite."

"I missed you so much, even today frogs' legs did not taste good to me. At the same time I am contempting him who absolutely ignores me. A Gertrude is my darling, Gertrude lives for me."

Miss O'Keefe's handwriting, said, coupled in various forms, according to police.

Another letter, written in Miss O'Keefe's handwriting and found in a safe deposit vault she maintained, was released by George H. King County Sept. 21, 1936, after Frank's marriage with Miss Donohue had begun—it read, somewhat incoherently:

"Events of the last few weeks have seemed so unreal. The real happening that makes sense is that we are together on the Fourth of July and coming home."

The district attorney said he knew the identity of the witness who saw the woman and he had ordered her picked up.

Miss Donohue and her predecessor in the letters, affectionately named "the face-to-face encounter" last night when the hapless went to the office of District Attorney George H. King County for a conference.

But a few minutes before, Gertrude had left the office after she had been questioned in regard to the slaying.

To her, it was disclosed by police, Frank had written in the letters made public today, that she was "the most wonderful girl in this world and also the best and most darling this world has ever seen."

In a letter dated February 26, 1935, Frank wrote:

"To my own darling Gertrude, the most wonderful girl in this world and also the best and most darling this world has ever seen."

Another letter to Miss O'Keefe, written by Frank Long after he began his courtship in Mass. Donohue was found by police in Miss O'Keefe's room.

"Dear Gertrude," it read, "time and distance cannot change me. I will always love you and when I kiss you I feel in heaven."

"Please dear, have God show me some light so that I may soon be holding my darling Gertrude tenderly in my arms, and kissing her beautiful eyes and saving my darling wife at last. Your loving, sweetest, Gertrude."

had a gift because you weren't able to get away with murder. You know what I mean?"

"Such minor matters as the fact that you first asked me to marry you once seven years ago, and I stuck despite a pretty black outlook, and that our spouses were purely casual by reason similar to that of July 4th, were never mentioned."

"You did not need advisers when you proposed to me or when you kept asking me to wait, and telling me you could not live without me, when after your long and bitter divorce you announced our impending marriage."

"Revealing your extreme reluctance to meeting me, and having in mind that our recent conversations have been just so many opportunities for you to insult me. It seems best to forget about Saturday."

"But it is not too great a favor to ask you to write me, frankly whether we are still engaged. I shall abide by your decision, whatever it may be, it does not prevent me from wishing you a very happy birthday. Sincerely, G."

Gertrude said the secretary told her that she did not know there was another woman in Frank's life until after his death.

According to the prosecution, Gertrude declared she had known her fiancée, Benno Quirin, and paid part of the cost of the $300 engagement ring he bought her. Gertrude said she never met him.

"These were to have been married about Christmas, 1935, and he backed out, telling her it was too cold. This postcard is mine and then he said it was his own."

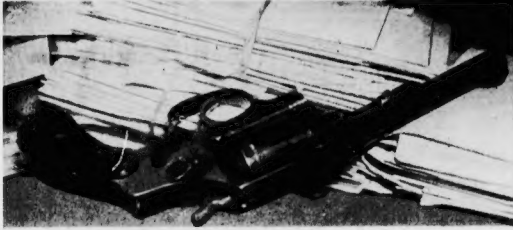

About a year ago the O'Keefe girl told him, Frank began to demand the return of his remaining mementoes according to Gertrude, who quoted him as saying:

"I was at his wife and as to what to do. He became so threatening about the letters that I decided to get a revolver. I approached a man who looked like a gangster outside Borough Hall (Brooklyn) and asked him if he could get me a gun."

He said I could and the next day he brought me one and charged me $5. I kept it on a shelf in my room."

The weapon in question was not used to kill Frank, police declared last night after a Hamilton road. Miss O'Keefe said she intended to use a chance of visiting the Sullivan law by poisoning the gun.

BILLET - DOUX, RED HEAD AND GUN

Love letters—and a gun! Add a jealous woman to them and they spell trouble, as any police detective will tell you, out of his experience. The letters in the picture were allegedly written by George O. Frank, slain New York bank teller. Letters and gun were found in the apartment of red-haired Gertrude O'Keefe, New York typist, now held on a charge of murder.

Il Duce's Son Hides in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (INS)—Mussolini, 29-year-old son of Benito Duce, remained pretty much under cover today, his second day in the U. S. A. where he has come to study American methods in motion picture production.

He planned to leave today for Hollywood by plane but at Newark airport the time of his departure was kept secret as a provision against a possible hostile demonstration.

The handsome young Fascist, upon his arrival yesterday on the Italian liner Rex, declared Communist agents had searched his baggage.

His only public appearance was at almost midnight, when he left his hotel for night in a large plane.

Dr. Haxson, director of the device, which he termed the "Coulter auto-transformer," said it would destroy bacteria in the blood by means of an ultra violet ray as the patient's blood passed through the machine and back into the body.

Blood Flow Purified By Rays

Passes Through Glass Tube From Arm to Arm

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24 (AP)—A machine through which would pass the entire human blood stream for purification as blood rays played upon it was explained today by Dr. H. H. Haxson of Cornell University at the American Congress of Physical Therapy.

Dr. Haxson said the device would draw the blood from one arm of the patient, pass it through a glass tube upon which rays were focused and return it to the original arm.

"It is for the future to show what can be accomplished," said the doctor, "that difficulty in experiments was that we didn't know the safe amount of radiation to give the patient or the quantity of blood to be treated. Another was to keep the blood sufficiently heated."

"This was achieved by stopping the motor and increasing the rate at which the blood passed through the tube. We are now able to control the speed of flow of sodium, used to prevent coagulation."

Dr. Haxson, director of the device, which he termed the "Coulter auto-transformer," said it would destroy bacteria in the blood by means of an ultra violet ray as the patient's blood passed through the machine and back into the body.

Friends of former Governor James M. Curley, who is seeking a fourth term at City Hall, will tender him a reception tonight at the South Boston municipal building. District Attorney and Mrs. William J. Foley were guests of honor last night at a bridge conducted at the Apertion Plaza in Warren street, Roxbury, by 200 women members of the Foley majority committee of that district. Leaders of the group were Mrs. Jack Haverly, Mrs. Sadie Reardon, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Mrs. Jack Canning and Mrs. Harry Leavitt.

The chemists were not only able to tell how much money she had in the box, but also the denomination of every bill she had saved. Mrs. Bernal intended using the money for an operation.

Curley Vote Continues To Grow

Still Retains Lead In Straw Ballot Foley Second

By FRANK F. KEENE
Supporters of Thomas Sawyer James M. Curley poured some of the straw vote into the office of the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser today to keep him in the lead in the mayoralty straw vote poll now being conducted by these newspapers.

District Attorney William J. Tobin made a strong showing in the straw vote poll today and he remained as runner-up.

Third place still is held by former Representative Alfred Santonasso of Hyde Park.

TOBIN RALLIES
School Committee Maurice J. Tobin made a strong showing today and he remained in fourth place.

President John I. Fitzgerald of the Boston City Council again showed his lead in former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols and he returned to fifth place while the Republican leader fell back to his former position.

There was little interest today in the candidates of the four remaining candidates, Carlton L. Brett of Dorchester, Alonso B. Cook of the West End, Charles L. Mearns of Back Bay and Otto Archer Hood, the Communist nominee.

Increased interest in the mayoralty poll is evidenced by the large number of ballots which arrive in every mail.

All readers of the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser are invited to mail a ballot marked for their favorite candidate.

PAST POLLS ACCURATE
The poll conducted by these newspapers in 1933 indicated just what the election of that year would be. The successful candidate was the one who had the most votes.

The editors of these newspapers had no intention of predicting the result of the 1934 election, when the question of United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. and Governor Charles F. Murphy was indicated long in advance of election.

They anticipate similar success this year. Every reader is urged to do his or her part to make this ballot a success. Mail your vote today. It will be properly credited to your candidate.

News Union, Sun Sign

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Climaxing five days of negotiations in the city, the News Union, publisher of the New York Sun, signed a contract with the Sun Editorial Employees Union.

The union is not affiliated with the American Newspaper Guild.

The contract, effective immediately, was signed by William T. Dowd, president and publisher, and Edmund S. DeLong, president of the union.

Among other things the contract calls for recognition of the union as sole collective bargaining agent.

A 40-hour week, time off for overtime work, vacations of from one to three weeks with pay, and establishment of a neutral arbiter to decide grievances.

Salary increases were also granted, ranging from 15 per cent for staff members to 10 per cent for those earning less than $20 per week to 5 per cent for members earning more than $20 weekly.

Czechoslovakia, Holy See at Peace

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 24 (AP)—Czechoslovakia, new as a nation, but with the oldest Catholic traditions in Europe, has come to terms with the Catholic Church after nearly two decades of difficult negotiations.

By a recently concluded pact, the Holy See recognized the existence of the new republic and arranged to assign archbishops and dioceses conforming to the boundaries established by the post-war treaties.

Silver antiques valued at $3000 were stolen from the Delphic Club, a group of Harvard University, it had been disclosed today.

A student returning for the fall semester discovered the theft, among the valuables taken from the house in Linden street, Cambridge, was a tray and a large punchbowl.

Roosevelt in Home City of Court Foe

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SEATTLE, Sept. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt, with five unscheduled talks to as many Iowa depot audiences behind him, traveled across Nebraska toward Wyoming for more speeches today after asserting he was "not in love with any particular methods" so long as he achieved the objective of his program.

His first stop for a platform appearance today was Cheyenne, Wyo., home of Senator O'Mahoney, Democratic foe of his opponent Court enlargement proposal.

Senator O'Mahoney said at Cheyenne last night he had hurried home from an eastern trip to be on hand for the President's visit. He added he had not received an invitation to accompany Mr. Roosevelt on the latter's trip through Wyoming.

Two more appearances were scheduled for Wyoming later in the day—one at Windsor for 8 minutes and the other for an hour at "Cheyenne," home of Senator O'Mahoney, Democratic advocate of the defeat of court plan.

The President did not show himself in Nebraska. He had retired long before his train reached the first stop in that state.

It was at Marshalltown, Ia., that he made his longest speech and referred to objectives as being more important than methods.

"You know, a lot of people mix up objectives with methods and, sometimes, when they don't like the objectives, they say, 'Oh, yes, we like the methods, but we don't like the objectives proposed by this particular fellow'."

"Well, I am not in love with any particular methods, but I am in love with the particular objectives which the people are after and I am after."

6 More Take American Weekly

New Papers to Add Circulation of Million

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The American Weekly announced today that for the first time in its forty-one years of publication it will be distributed on a large scale with Sunday newspapers other than those owned by Mr. W. R. Hearst.

Effective January 2, 1938, the magazine, which already reaches 200,000 homes, giving it by far the largest circulation in the world, will add another million by including as its distributing publications the following Sunday newspapers:

RUFFALO COURIER EXPRESS, CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER, HOUSTON (TEXAS) POST, MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL, NASHVILLE TYPENESSIAN, WICHITA BEACON.

These six Sunday newspapers will deliver into the homes of their million customers every week the same magazine that goes into six million homes through the Hearst Sunday newspapers, creating an unduplicated audience of 16,000,000 families for one publication.

SET UNIQUE FORMULA
The new step forward by the American Weekly with its even greater possibilities, is the result of a unique editorial formula conceived by Mr. Hearst in 1896 and adhered to ever since.

At a time when popular national magazines were devoted either to fiction or to politics, Mr. Hearst sought to provide something new and interesting—something that would bring to his audience the glamour, the mystery, the romance of real life.

The fundamental formula laid down in the first few years of publication still holds. The American Weekly's editors search throughout the world for material that deals with the lives, romances, adventures and tragedies of real people in real places or real, but with verifiable names and addresses. Each of these articles must contain the same basic plot or theme that characterizes the best of fiction.

In those early days science was beginning to make itself felt in American life and industry. No question of large circulation was available to gather, interpret and disseminate authoritative information in the new field of public science.

MADE SCIENCE CLEAR
The editors of the American Weekly were the first to see the importance of this important, today, that magazine develops a great amount of effort and space in making the developments and mysteries of modern science clear, accurate and other sciences clear and attractive to the layman, while at the same time building the interest of the initiated by the authorities and accuracy of the material.

For the first 20 years of its existence the American Weekly remained exclusively an editorial power. In 1916, however, with a circulation of 2,000,000, it entered the national advertising field.

In the next ten years or so it began to advertise in the magazine. In 1927 it began to advertise in the magazine. In 1927 it began to advertise in the magazine.

Stone Sees New Boundary Lines Set in Palestine

The proposed boundary lines contained in the British Royal Commission report to partition Palestine will be revised. Elhu D. Stone, vice-president of the Zionist organization in America, declared today.

Rates Raid at $1,260,000

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 (AP).—On second thought, Mrs. Pearl Anthon, woman detective, says she was damaged $1,260,000 worth instead of just $100,000 worth, when District Attorney Hiram Brown said he had home-possessed, she said, by Thomas H. Warner, Sr., whose son was her guest.

Mrs. Anthon filed an amended complaint against Warner, automobile accessory manufacturer, and Thomas John, Dore yesterday. She gave no reason for the $1,260,000 increase.

Mrs. Anthon charges she was beaten when Pearl investigators entered her home. She alleges Warner instigated the raid because of objections to his wife's romance with Mrs. Jean MacDonnell, who also was in the house.

It seems Mr. Stork's getting into the habit of carrying a double burden when he visits Quincy hospital. Anyhow, here is the sixth pair of twins he's left there this year. These babies are Walter and Jean Hebler, born to Mrs. Stanley Hebler of Franklin street, South Quincy. Nurse Anne Marin already has a soft spot in her heart for them.

Warships In China Fleet Order Reveals Firm Decision

citizens it was made clear. The order continued: "These persons are unwilling to leave until their businesses have been destroyed, or they are forced to leave due to actual physical danger."

"Until such time comes, our naval forces cannot be withdrawn without failure in our duty and without bringing great discredit on the United States Navy."

DANGER ACCEPTED
"In giving assistance and protection, our naval forces may at times be exposed to dangers which will in most cases be slight, but in any case risks must be accepted."

The general order created a stir in diplomatic circles. In effect it reversed President Roosevelt's former warning to Americans that unless they left China they would remain in the war-torn nation "at their own risk." The "communist-infiltrated" referred to in the order was observed in the President. Admiral Appell indicated his order without use of code, it was learned. Thus his action was immediately known to the Japanese government.

It was broadcast September 22, the day Secretary of State Hull lodged his formal note with Tokyo protesting Japan's aerial warfare on China, helping explain popular opinion.

By H. R. KRICKEBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NANKING Sept. 24.—America's so-called neutrality actually enforces support of Japanese aggression. America has more responsibility than any other signatory of the nine-power pact because she insisted it.

It is now America's bounden duty to call a conference of all signatories to end this war, which the Chinese continue to wage in their own defense for a hundred years if necessary.

So declared Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today in the first interview he has granted since the Japanese announced their intention of blowing his capital off the map.

Because the Japanese want shore to air, land and sea, and would never let their air force do it in its own defense, it is impossible to describe the exact place of the war.

Yet it is permissible to say that the generalissimo has not abandoned his capital, and after a series of air attacks he received the prize, Nanking, he has granted.

Mr. Chiang Kai-shek, who translated his remarks into French, said that China Kai-shek was drawn in a severely plain grey uniform, bare of any insignia.

The fact that this frail-looking little man whirled into one of his battleships and ordered four hundred millions in fighting gear for the first time in generalissimo was hard to believe, until one saw his mouth bared and his lower lip stick out stubbornly beneath the sparse moustache when he spoke of the Japanese.

DESIGNER FOLLOWS
His hand was burned with peacetime fire as he demanded their abandonment.

STILL HOPES IN U. S.
Asked what he thought of American Ambassador Nelson Tamm's temporary departure from the embassy, he said of a Chinese diplomat: "I am not sure if he is a diplomat or a spy."

It is not necessary for me to comment, I believe that all of you who know China feel exactly the same as I, but I have emphasized that the official American attitude at the present time is not that of real America.

Sino-American friendship has become a tradition. Now we are being attacked in violation of a treaty which was initiated by America and binds her to help check such violation.

I am convinced that the United States, which has always laid greatest stress on justice and law, will not persist in deviation from her own tradition, and reinforced the United States will, as she must, fulfill her obligations under the nine-power pact.

All powers pretending neutrality, despite their signature to the nine-power treaty not only are not neutral in fact, but show Japan to break this treaty of theirs without even protest."

"The Japanese blockade of the coast has had no appreciable effect, and our resistance has no time limit."

Japanese Bomb Hankow, And Canton Again
SHANGHAI Sept. 24 (INS)—Carrying the warfare far into the interior of China, headlines reported Hankow being bombed by Japanese bombers today, raiding the important city of Hankow, inflicting hundreds of casualties.

Early estimates placed the dead at 100 and the injured at more than 200. The bombers concentrated their attacks on the poorer residential sections of the city of half a million.

The attack on Hankow followed a new raid on Canton, in which scores of bombs again were dropped on the stricken Chinese port. The raid was a blow, however, and Chinese authorities claimed little damage resulted. This was in contrast to yesterday's raid in which 3000 non-combatants were killed.

though Mussolini may yet change his mind to Italian, these informants said.

Hitler, who already has arrived in Munich to greet Mussolini at the railroad station tomorrow morning, and the Italian leader were expected as having in mind the settlement of peace through some arrangement with Great Britain and France, according to informants.

It is known that in Germany, France and elsewhere in the press, Hitler's most important meeting of heads of states, and interpreted as opening a new era in European politics.

Hitler's intentions were taken to insure the safety of Hitler and Mussolini. Thousands of guards were stationed along the 70-mile stretch from the Austro-German border in the Mecklenburg area, where they will attend secret army maneuvers.

"Suspicious characters all through Germany were understood to have been placed in 'protective custody' for the duration of the five-day Munich visit, while police and the military took every precaution to prevent anything 'happening' in this time, talks or in places where they were making their official call."

CAMERAMEN EXCLUDED
No effort will be made to guard photographers have been warned to stay away from Munich as police will not permit them to come within close range of the two leaders.

No foreign correspondents will be allowed to follow the pair to the army maneuvers. Only 12 Italian correspondents, accompanied by military experts, accompanying it from Rome will be allowed.

Freeing of Long Assailed at Sex Crime War Parley

By JAMES F. DOOLING
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 24.—Assailing the courts and police for their failure to co-operate with science, Dr. Arthur Ruggles superintendent of the Butler Hospital for Insane, today cited the case of Howard Long, confessed sex slayer of two youths, as an example.

Dr. Ruggles branded Long's release as a blunder when a known menace to society was unleashed with the result that two young boys in a neighboring state met deaths by violence.

Attacking overnight passengers for eliminating sex crime, the focus point of the three-day crime prevention sessions, which opened here today, Dr. Ruggles called for a long-range program of permanent segregation of such individuals from greater cities by authorities in passing them and more extensive psychiatric examination of such criminals.

The conference is being attended by crime prevention experts from six states.

In closing the Long case, Dr. Ruggles declared that certain types of psycho-pathological personalities must be permanently segregated in order to protect the public from their social evils.

LAID IN AMERICAN AID
In this case somebody hounded and the man was released to repeat acts previous to his crime, resulting in the death of two children. The psychiatric method was completely and was discarded.

Long, a 30-year-old man, was released from the Butler hospital in 1935 after being confined there for several years for the murder of two children. He was released on the condition that he would remain in the state of Massachusetts.

THIS IS LIFE

Two hundred and sixty-three courses, the largest and most diversified program of extension classes ever offered in the Commonwealth, will be given this fall by the Division of University Extension of the Massachusetts Department of Education, according to Commissioner of Education James G. Nease.

The classes will begin during the last week of September for the adult public of Metropolitan Boston and vicinity which wishes to continue its education to improve its efficiency, to broaden its culture, to learn a new trade and thereby find employment or to obtain recreation and profit at leisure.

For many an extension course which begins next Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the Gardner Auditorium in the State House and will be repeated next Friday morning at 9:30 a. m. at the same place. It is a regular semester course at Tufts College and I have hopes that it will be a success.

Faculty Includes Many Eminent Persons

A consideration of the faculty reveals the names of such eminent leaders in the academic, artistic, business and professional worlds as Maurice Lindsay, poet and leading lecturer from London, England; and County Wexford, Ireland. Dr. Robert M. Green of Harvard Medical School, Dr. Henry B. Eklund, Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene; Dr. A. Warren Stearns, dean, Tufts Medical School; Anson W. Belding, editor and publisher of the Journal of Education; P. A. O'Connor, president E. T. Slattery Co.; Professor Ernest Hauser and Professor, Bernard E. Proctor of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The list of subjects comprises nearly every thing to be found in the catalog of a first rate university — languages, science, business courses, arts and mathematics. The chief attraction of the fall program of University Extension courses, however, is the fact that a large number of them are of the specialized sort demanded by the public, yet not given elsewhere.

Wide Variety of Courses Offered

Sixty courses are "Radio Technique and Development of Microphone Personality," "Church Music in Theory and Practice," "The Art of Flower Arrangement," "Keeping Mentally Fit," "Art of Salesmanship," "Hotel Management," "Law for Laymen," "Law of the Sea," "Practical X-Ray," "Motion Picture Projection," "Metallurgy and Heat Treatment," "Patenting and Commercializing Inventions," "Telescope Making" and "Modern Home Fashions and Accessories."

Most University Extension courses award academic credit and a state certificate to those who complete them satisfactorily. Being state supported, a relatively low fee is charged for each course.

The fall bulletin is now available at the office of the Division of University Extension, room 217, State House, where further information may be secured.

"DENIED CLOTHES"

Says Slum

Sees Clearance Sole Justifiable Field for U. S. Housing

Senator David I. Walsh today told the 4th annual convention of the Massachusetts Cooperative Bank League convened in Swampscott, that slum elimination was the only justification for future federal housing projects.

Walsh stated that while the federal government has a right to build housing projects, it must also include slum clearance in its program. He said that the government has no right to give subsidies to a favored few unless they belong to a class in distribution.

I don't believe in the government giving subsidies for building houses which provide low rentals for a limited few and provide houses more attractive and comfortable than those occupied by the average American workman who has no one to blame.

Walsh said that the federal government has a right to build housing projects, but it must also include slum clearance in its program. He said that the government has no right to give subsidies to a favored few unless they belong to a class in distribution.

I am pleased that the government has abandoned that sort of undertaking and has now entered a field where federal aid and assistance in housing was absolutely desirable, namely, housing facilities for people who live in slums.

GIRL ABOUT TOWN

By Ann Marsters

Chance meeting: Mrs. John T. Lambert the wife of our associate publisher, ran into a friend of hers as she was stepping out of the elevator in R. H. Stearns.

The friend was Mrs. Grace Conlidge — and Mrs. Lambert described for us (by request) Mrs. Conlidge's costume.

She wore a lovely for sport suit with a three-quarter length coat and a hat of a matching shade. It was a trimmed hat worn slightly tilted. The whole outfit was very stunning, and Mrs. Conlidge herself looked very well and jaunty.

She was in Stearns' and said to look at lace table covers.

We have heard of a man, a Boston man, who has clung faithfully to the rule, ever since his Boy Scout days, of doing three good deeds a day. Some of them are trifling deeds, but good ones nevertheless. And certainly, with his eyes watchful for a chance to do a kindness, such a person wouldn't be likely to commit a bad deed.

Recalls Little Precepts Learned in School

He remembers too many of the moral precepts he learned in school — one for every letter in the alphabet. The one for "C" goes: "Count that day lost whose low descending sun news from his hand no good action done."

We don't know why we are telling you about this. It makes us feel a bit like Anne Rooney, who is forever uttering solemn little maxims to her dog Tom.

Full moon. The moon that strange lady was rising the skies. With a package of kisses, caresses and sighs. And now and again, through the windmills and veils. She tossed down a bundle of heartbreak and tears.

A traveler informs us that there is a sign on the wall of a Michigan hotel which reads: "This side of the hotel you fingered, but it was burning." Well, that's a fairly comforting thought.

"Gone With the Wind" Drapery Chintz Out

Did you know that there is a "Gone With the Wind" drapery chintz?

The pattern consists of six pictures inspired by the novel — one of Confederate soldiers leading a cannon, one of a Negro picking cotton, one of three or four young women riding with a chaperon.

And another of four figures bunched in front of a Southern mansion. You have only one guess as to whom the figures represent. They are Scarlett O'Hara, Rhett Butler, dear little Melanie and that ally man, Ashley.

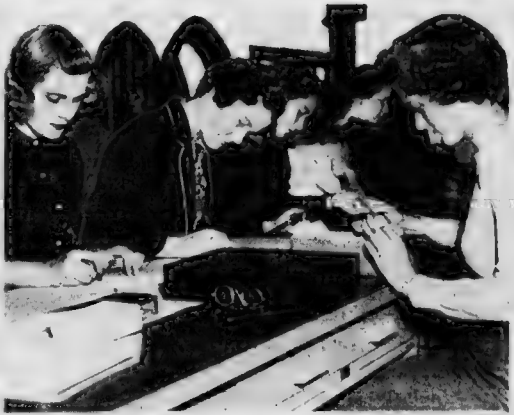

P. S. — Would anybody like to borrow my copy of "Gone With the Wind"?

Subway Book Snooping Universal Failing

Subway note: A gentleman, riding on the subway between Harvard Square and the South Station, was deeply engrossed in reading his Bible. The young man beside him was rather confused to observe that for a bookmark he had a list of cocktail recipes.

That, of course, proves nothing at all — except to make us wonder why it is so difficult, when riding on a subway, to keep from peeking at whatever the person beside us is reading. It is especially difficult, we think, to keep from reading the next person's newspaper. And if someone across the way is reading a book, we simply can't rest until we discover its title. But maybe you aren't troubled in this way.

One would think "twere spring one would, just to look at the hearts and flowers which are scribbled in chalk on the stone exterior of the old Houghton and Burton building. The heart-encircled initials proclaim so many tender feelings — and one of the most touching is the simple (and the largest) announcement that: "D. M. loves James Cagney."

Individual Saving Destroyed by Deal Says Lewis Haney

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)
NEW YORK, Sept. 24. Any unbiased economist will agree that with all its economic errors the New Deal has done some good things. Just for example, the decrease in safeguards have been given to investors.

Most thoughtful business leaders recognize that the only way to ensure the survival of the company is to remain competitive in the marketplace. This requires a willingness to embrace change, to invest in research and development, and to foster a culture of innovation. By doing so, companies can position themselves for long-term success in a rapidly evolving market.

Retail Sales Increase Over Preceding Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—New York's retail sales rose a more aggressive stride this week, with gathering momentum in the outstanding fourth floor at Macy's and today in the Westview review of business.

Retail sales for the country as a whole were estimated at 7.3 to 7.4 percent ahead of the preceding week, according to the Commerce Department, a better gain than in the comparable four-week period.

Jeffra Makes Hit With Fans

Joe Louis set in the press box at the Polo Grounds last night and thought young Harry Jeffra was a whiz. . . Of course Mike Jacobs has all the winners tied up.

If he doesn't lead a Fred Astaire-Fred Astaire team to go for the Garden this winter, it will be Joe Louis' fault. . . At that, Astaire isn't so proud of his victory. Old Man Marcell Thill was miles ahead on points when his eye was out. . . Nobody can understand how referee Johnny Martz called the Lou Ambers-Pedro Martinez bout a draw. . . Many think Johnny should have been a baseball umpire.

Rest hour of the evening was the extra added attraction in which Dan (One Round) Parker, sparring partner of the Daily Mirror, played a perfect fight on the back of Marcell Thill's New York column. . . It was a nip and tuck fight. . . Night's biggest disappointment was the terrible showing of Pedro Martinez. . . Why he didn't throw his right arm is still a mystery.

MIKE SERVES LUNCHEONS

Mike Jacobs served the press with basket lunches. . . Harry Jones was worried more than once in his bout with Cetero Martz. . . At the boxing commission meeting yesterday, Chairman John J. Fiedler gave the principals in last night's show one of his well known pip blabs. . . "What's that, what's that?" asked the general. . . "Talk about, young man!"

For the first time since Lou Ambers turned pro, Al Will went in his corner. . . Al, the 20th century, went out as Louis' manager with the signing of last night's fight. . . Louis Levy, the young architect, who is in charge of Mike Jacobs' set-up for outdoor fights in the crowd last night was below expectation. . . Mike created some dough and when you add it to what he got out of the Park-Louis and Bud-Louis fights, he has had a bad summer—total net between $50,000 and $100,000.

Ambers vs. Henry Armstrong is the match Mike Jacobs wants next. . . Also, Mike is waiting about a second in fight. Max Schmeling in Miami in February, and don't let anybody tell you differently.

Four champions met a knockout here a knockout. . . Monday what Ben Leonard and Lou Tene thought when they saw two guys like Leonard and Ambers dancing around for the time they fight for some years back. . . They met twice and drew twice more than $300,000 and $400,000 respectively.
